

Contents

Part I Urban Wastelands as Biodiversity Hotspots
Urban Wastelands Can Be Amazing Reservoirs of Biodiversity for Cities	3
Nathalie Machon
Natural Transformation of Post-industrial Lands: Liberty State Park in Jersey City, NJ (USA)	19
Frank J. Gallagher
Strategies for Increasing Biodiversity Conservation in Cities Using Wastelands: Review and Case Study	39
Michael L. McKinney
Urban Wastelands' Contribution to Ecological Connectivity	65
Marion Brun and Francesca Di Pietro
Wasteland, a Refuge for Biodiversity, for Humanity	87
Audrey Muratet, Myr Muratet, Marie Pellaton, Marion Brun, Mathilde Baude, Assaf Shwartz, and Colin Fontaine
Part II Nature and People: Uses and Perceptions of Urban Wastelands
Dwelling in an Urban Wasteland: Struggles for Resources	115
Cécile Mattoug
Long-Standing Wastelands	135
Stela Muçi and Franck Dorso
Let It Grow? Social Representations of Nature on Contaminated Brownfields	157
Marjorie Tendero and Cécile Bazart

Getting to Know Urban Wasteland—A Look at Vacant Lands as Urban Green Space in Japan	181
Minseo Kim and Christoph D. D. Rupprecht
Wastelands at Port-City Interfaces. The Search for Water Spaces to Evade the Constant Hustle and Bustle of City Life	199
Kristel Mazy
 Part III Planning Nature With Urban Wastelands
The Regeneration of Urban Riverbanks: A Dilemma Between Environmental and Social Issues	221
Jean-Paul Carrière and Stuart Farthing
Renaturation and Ecosystem Services of Contaminated Urban Wastelands in France	243
Yves Petit-Berghem, Elisabeth Rémy, and Marine Canavese
Approaches to Developing Urban Wastelands as Elements of Green Infrastructure	265
Juliane Mathey and Stefanie Rößler
From Isolated Wastelands to Informal Open Spaces Connected to a Metropolitan Park System	287
Séréna Vanbutsele
Becoming Urban Wastelands	317
Laura Verdelli, Geeva Chandana Balasubramanian, and Rukkumany R. Harishankar
Unscripted Spaces. Urban Green Space and Terrains Vagues in Historical Perspective. Antwerp (Belgium) c. 1900	331
Bart Tritsmans
Conclusion. Anthropocene Wastelands: From the Margins to the Center	353
Rémi Beau
Afterword: How to Treat Urban Wastelands as a Form of Nature?	367
Francesca Di Pietro and Amélie Robert	